

Seventh International Symposium on AAC Evidence-Based Practice
Entering a State of Independence: AAC, Evidence and Empowerment
Thursday August 6, 2009

More Resources:

Information to use with students or young adults who use AAC:

A Student's Guide to IEP's, a resource to help a student understand more about IEP's and how they work before participating in their own IEP.

<http://www.nichcy.org/InformationResources/Documents/NICHCY%20PUBS/st1.pdf>

Assistive Technology and Transition, Wisconsin Assistive Technology Initiative. This resource includes a Student Guide for Self Determination and Assistive Technology Management.

<http://www.fctd.info/resources/newsletters/upload/attransitionpacket.pdf>

Youthhood, an online resource designed by students for students. Created by the National Center on Secondary Education and Transition (NCSET) <http://www.youthhood.org/>

Information for parents and professionals:

Enhancing Academic Achievement and Transition Outcomes Using Technology, By Margo Vreeburg Izzo, Alexa Murray, and Nancy O'Hanlon, Addressing Trends and Developments in Secondary Education and Transition, Vol. 4, Issue 5, September 2005 <http://ncset.org/publications/viewdesc.asp?id=2472>

The National Center on Secondary Education and Transition Home Page. This will open up a wealth of information and resources. <http://www.ncset.org/default.asp>

Transition: There Are No IEP's in College, by Amy G. Dell, The College of New Jersey Tech-NJ <http://www.tcnj.edu/~technj/2004/transition.htm>

Transition, by the Will-Grundy Transition Planning Committee (TCP). This document gives an overview of effective transitions, including a time line of priorities that begins in elementary school and a list of activities and experiences that can help students achieve desired outcomes.

<http://transitionplan.homestead.com/files/transition2.htm>

Webcast:

Supporting Successful Transition for Individuals who Use AAC, by David McNaughton. <http://aac-merc.psu.edu/index-5231.php.html>